The Great White Shark (Underwater World of Sharks) Brad Burnham, James Hirsch

Sharks fascinate kids and this dazzlingly illustrated series written by a widely published author with a master's degree in biology, presents an in-depth look at these awesome creatures of the deep. Your students will learn about the habitats, predatory habits, reproduction, and endangered status of great white sharks, hammerhead sharks, sand tiger sharks, tiger sharks, whale sharks, and mako sharks.

Star of movies, legends and countless stories, the great white can grow to be as long as 21 feet. The good news is that it very rarely attacks humans, preferring animals more rich in blubber, like seals and even whales. This book is loaded with facts about these deadly giants, including the threat to their continued survival at the hands of human beings.
