One of the most publicized crops of our era and in all of history, marijuana is slowly altering our economy, health care system, and political climate. Once one of the countries with the strictest restrictions on marijuana use, cannabis use for medicinal purposes is now legal in 23 states (at time of writing) in the United States. It's hard to believe how much things have changed regarding cannabis in the last decade, and it is impossible to predict what will happen over the 10 years. What we can predict is that as the social stigma clouding marijuana dissipates and as more laws are introduced to authorize its use, production will increase, and it will increase rapidly.

Pot, weed, cannabis, marijuana - call it what you want, it is impossible to deny its slow and steady rise to stardom in the United States and many other nations across the world. We are entering a new era, one far more progressive than the previous, one that will undoubtedly embrace the use of marijuana both in medical and recreational purposes more than ever before.
