Histological Typing of Tumours of the Eye and Its Adnexa (WHO. World Health Organization. International Histological Classification of Tumours) R.Jean Campbell

This second edition is the result of a collaborative effort of ophthalmic pathologists from 11 countries and is more extensive and detailed than its predecessor published in 1980. Several new tumour entities have been added, while the list of histological variants has been expanded and examples of immunoreactivity included. The publication of the revised eye and adnexal tumour classification is accompanied by 112 photomicrographs.
